DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 2-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 2, “a greater part of the elongated strip” is generally not understood in the context of the invention. It is not clear what structure constitutes a greater part.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Farago, US Patent 3,588,961. A tie-type security seal comprising a single part body 1 of thermoplastic material (as conventional in the art) with a locking cavity in the form of a passage through the body, a metallic insert element (see figures 1-10) embedded into the plastic and fixed in said cavity and formed with at least one through-opening aligned with said passage and also a locking tooth and an elongated strip 11 of thermoplastic material integral at one end with the body and having another free end for insertion through said passage in a first direction where it is locked by said tooth to prevent removal from the cavity in the opposite direction (as conventional in the art), the body and the strip may have been manufactured by a plastic injection operation (this product-by-process limitation only requires the examiner to provide the resulting product—MPEP 2113, the device could have been formed by such a process), wherein the metallic insert element may have been incorporated into said body of thermoplastic material during the injection operation. As best understood, a greater part of strip has a cross section substantially identical to that of the strip as claimed. The metallic insert element is a substantially flat part stamped with a main region cut out in its center to define a plurality of teeth bent outwardly from the plane of the pad (points being spread apart flexibly), defining an opening between the ends of the teeth for passage of the strip, and, on each side and in the same plane as the main region, a lateral extension at the outer edges of the insert 5 of which the end coincides with the side of said body. Each lateral extension having the form of a two-pronged fork

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farago. Although the free end portion of the strip having a smaller cross section than the remaining part of the strip to facilitate the initial introduction through said passage is not explicitly taught by Farago, the examiner serves Official Notice that such structure is very common in the art as a means of providing ease of insertion. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made for one skilled in the art to have included in the design such a modification, as a means of providing ease of insertion of the free end of the strip, as commonly known in the art.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 6 and 7 are would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
